

IKIGAI COOKIE POLICY

1. How we use cookies

Some cookies are needed to run the website. For example, when you log in, cookies help to recognise you and keep you logged in as you browse the website. We call these strictly necessary cookies.

We also use the following types of cookies:

- Necessary cookies: We need to use these cookies to make our website work, for example, so you can get promotions awarded to your account.
- Analytics and advertising cookies: These allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors to our website, and see how visitors browse our website, so we can improve it where necessary.

These also allow us to see what pages and links you have visited so we can provide more relevant ads. We may share this information with other organisations, such as Google, Facebook and LinkedIn, for the same purpose.

These cookies are all session cookies, which means that they will stop tracking your activity on the website when you close your website browser.

2. Can I change my preferences?

You can block turn off cookies in your browser settings. However, if you block all cookies, you may not be able to use all or some parts of our website. Please note, other organisations, such as advertising networks, may also use cookies to track you across different websites. We have no control over these cookies.